Data Governance, Protection and Compliance Management

Course Introduction

Data is one of the most important assets that organizations have. Hence, there is a high requirement for organizations to have an effective system of managing it. Data governance helps to ensure that data is usable, accessible, and protected. Effective data governance leads to better data analytics, which in turn leads to better decision making and improved operations support. Further, it helps to avoid data inconsistencies or errors in data, which lead to integrity issues, poor decision-making, and a variety of organizational problems.

This training course is designed to provide participants with the relevant concepts and international best practices on Data Governance, Privacy, and Data Protection. The course will highlight topics such as Analysis, Analytics, Mining and Reporting, Data Management Standards and Policies, and Developing Policy, Procedures and Action Plans, which will help them effectively plan and manage the volume of data and information within their organizations.
