Ethics and Compliance in Global Procurement

Course Introduction

This training is designed by Boost to help procurement and supply chain professionals navigate the complex ethical and compliance challenges of operating in global markets. As organizations expand their sourcing networks and supplier bases worldwide, the risks related to corruption, bribery, forced labor, data privacy, and regulatory non-compliance increase. Addressing these issues is no longer just a legal requirement but a key element in protecting brand reputation and ensuring sustainable business growth.

Participants will gain the knowledge and tools to design procurement processes that are transparent, compliant, and ethical. The course focuses on global standards, compliance frameworks, and real-world case studies to highlight best practices and pitfalls. Attendees will also learn how to balance efficiency and cost optimization with fairness, social responsibility, and adherence to local and international regulations.
