Corporate Finance

Course Introduction

Corporate finance focuses on how organizations make financial decisions to create value, manage resources, and support long-term sustainability. It connects financial analysis, investment decisions, funding strategies, and performance outcomes into one integrated decision-making framework.

Developed by Boost, this course is designed to provide professionals with a clear and practical understanding of corporate finance concepts as they apply to real business environments. Rather than focusing on complex calculations or academic models, the program emphasizes financial thinking, decision logic, and strategic financial awareness.

Boost's Corporate Finance course enables participants to understand how financial decisions impact organizational value, risk, and performance, supporting stronger business and strategic discussions.
