Corporate, Governance & Commercial Law - Entry to Mid

Course Introduction

Corporate, governance, and commercial law form the legal backbone of how organizations are established, governed, and operated in the marketplace. These legal frameworks regulate relationships between shareholders, boards, management, and external parties, while also governing commercial transactions and business conduct.

Developed by Boost, this course is designed to provide entry- to mid-level professionals with a practical understanding of how corporate, governance, and commercial laws interact in real organizational settings. The program focuses on legal structures, governance obligations, and commercial relationships—without turning the course into a theoretical legal study or a regulatory checklist.

Boost's Corporate, Governance & Commercial Law - Entry to Mid-course equips participants with legal awareness that supports sound decision-making, compliance, and business continuity.
