ISO 50001-2018 Lead Auditor (Energy Management System)

Course Introduction

ISO 50001:2018 is a new Energy Management Systems standard that gives organizations the requirements for Energy Management Systems (EnMS). The standard is presently the world's leading energy management system, increasingly being adopted by many companies internationally. This training course is designed to provide participants with the skills and knowledge required to perform first-party audits of energy management systems (EnMS) against ISO 50001:2018, in accordance with ISO 19011 and ISO 17021, as applicable.
